REAL ESTATE EXAM RESULTS
SHOW SHELTON STUDENTS DO WELL

The College has received the cumulative results of the Alabama Real Estate Examination for the period July 1990 through June 1991.

During that time, seventy students from the Skyland Campus took the salesperson examination, and fifty-eight of those passed the exam. This is an 82.9 percent passing rate.

Also during that time, three students from the Skyland Campus took the broker examination, and all three passed.

Further, in three of the four major National Examination content categories, the mean score for Shelton State students was higher than the state mean score. In the fourth category, the Shelton State mean was just three-tenths of a point below the state mean. Shelton State students scored higher than the state mean on the National Examination but were eight-tenths of a point below the state mean on the State Examination.

In addition to the students from the Skyland Campus, seven students from the Centreville campus took the salesperson exam during the July, 1990-June, 1991 period. Five of the seven (71.4 percent) passed. Centreville students exceeded the state mean score in two of the National Examination content categories and were very close to the state mean in the other two. As with the students from the Skyland Campus, Centreville students exceeded the mean for the National Examination but were just under the state mean for the State Examination.

No students from the Centreville campus took the broker examination during the period for which the results were given.

Overall, the performance of Shelton State students from both the Centreville and the Skyland Campus was quite good. The instructors for those courses are to be congratulated for a job well done.
